Dear Sir

For some years I have watched the struggle of the field in new streams and rivers. Dams have not been planned adequately. The goal of all the dam-building was to turn land into food production.

Some dams protect but 130 year flood plan!

As my grandkelders say "Get a life." It's a boondoggle and does nothing at all for the quality of life in California. Small dams may not really be needed. River will do better properly banked. And rep - Rep keep up!

Also, stop, fine, set up photographic traps for the mean spirited persons who are too lazy to take care of our land and our rivers.

If $\frac{1}{2}$ of the people leave California. FINE!
I just hope it is the bunch that fail to be good neighbors, are directed by greed and really, who want them around?
